Eudden Death of Mrs. Hess, Which Aroused Talk in the Neighborhood.

At 3 o'clock Tuesday morning Mrs. Betty Hess, aged twenty-three, died suddenly at her home, No. 70 Bicking street. She appeared to be as well as usual and in good spirits Monday, and worked all day Monday washing. The suddenness of her death has caused considerable talk in the neighborhood, and the coroner was notified and a deputy went out to investigate the cause of the death. Neighbors who went into the house Monday night to wait on her say that her husband, Fred Hess, employed at Schmidt's brewery, refused to send for s physician. He had only been married two years. Hess says that the reason he did not send for a physician was that his wife had often taken sick in the same way and he did not think she was seriously ill. Coroner Manker held an inquest yesterday after-noon and pronounced death due to cholera morbus, superinduced by the excessive

They Celebrated in Berlin. News has been received of the celebration of the Fourth of July by Americans at Berlin, which of all places on the European continent gives most friendly welsome to the sons and daughters of Columbia. The celebrants chartered a steamer, which left Jannowitz bridge at 9:30 A. M. and arrived at Gruenau at 11, where the party had a lunch, and then came American games, leading off with base-ball. After these came a dinner, with toasts and responses, all being of a highly patriotic character. Indianapolis was represented by Dr. and Mrs. O. G. Death of Mrs. Thomas S. Hacker. Mrs. Thomas S. Hacker died yesterday afternoon, at 2:45, at the family residence in Woodruff Place, after several years of suffering from a painful and incurable disease. Mrs. Hacker was a lady of the most gentle and Christian spirit, and endured her long suffering with the sweetness and patience of a martyr. She was beloved by all who knew her, and while her demise is to her a release from pain, her death will be a loss to many friends, who will extend to her husband their sympathy in his be-

CAMP-MEETINGS OPENING

Bethany and Acton Park Assemblies Have Their Initial Services To-Day.

New Improvements at the Grounds of the Christian Church--Eminent Religious Workers-Running of Trains.

ETHANY ASSEM-BLY is a telling force in strengthenng the bond of fellowship among the people of the Christian Church. Members of this church come there every summer, from all parts of the country, to meet and co-workers. Fortunately, the park is a very pleasant place in which to spend the hot weather, situated as it is, high up among shady hills. There are many cool retreats and an abundance of fresh air. The grounds comprise about forty acres on the southwestern edge of a small lake, and are the most beautiful of the kind in the State. The shady walks, winding among cottages and tents and leading over rustic bridges, furnish delightful promenades.

The lake is, of course, a great attraction, affording opportunity for the favorite summeramusements, boating, fishing and bathing. The facilities for accommodation are good. The hotel was recently enlarged to double its original capacity. A broad veranda runs around the building, steps at the front leading down to the park entrance, and side steps leading to the dock and boat-houses. Besides the hotel are the annex and several cottages owned by the association, the whole furnishing room for some five hundred people. Board at the hotel is $3.50 a week, room rent, $3 to $6. For persons rooming and boarding at the hotel, the price is reduced to $4.75 hotel, the price is reduced to $4.75 to $6 a week. Private cottages are scattered over the grounds and add greatly to the attractiveness of the place.

The Tabernacie, where the greater part of the exercises are held, is large and airy, essily seating over two thousand. The highest point on the ground, formerly occupid by the pavilion, is the site of the new building for the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. The dedication will take place during the encampment. The Y. P. S. C. E. will have its headquarters here during the summer and the kindergarten school, organized last year, will meet in the same building. The kindergarten will be under the control of Miss Katherine Bray, of Indianapolis. It is expected to be a great success. The chapel built for the Christian Women's Board of Missions is especially attractive. It is a square building entirely surrounded by verandas, and presents a most inviting appearance. Two publishing companies, the Standard and Christian, have cottages at Bethany. From them may be obtained books, writing materials and publications of the Christian Church.

of the Christian Church.

The location of the cottage erected by Butler University is exceedingly happy—in a clump of trees on the crest of a hill. Its reading-room is stocked with papers and periodicals, and the chairs and hammocks on its shady porch are rarely vacant. There are many good places for tents, and by the middle of the season the ground is generally thickly studded with them. Tents with flooring are provided at the park.

These advantages, however, are merely accessories to the great purpose of the assembly, which is to advance religion, science and literature. The programme for this year's session numbers among its speakers some distinguished men and women. Noticeable among them are Garrison, Undika Ches Young Zollars and Radford; also, the returned missionaries Adams of India, Garst of Japan and Williams of China.

The encampment opens to-morrow and closes Aug. 15. Friday, 29th, is children's day, and excursions will be run from all the Sunday-schools in the State. Wednesday, Aug. 3, 18 Butler University day, and a good programme has been provided. The sunset boat-ride has come to be an established custom. A new attraction this year will be patriot's day. The four candidates for Governor of Indiana will speak; politics, however, is a forbidden topic. This day will probably attract many old soldiers and see a great display of stars and stripes. The Sunday-school convention will be held Aug. 1 and 2. The days for the annual meeting of the C. W. B. M. are Aug. 4 and 5. The State Ministerial Association will hold its convention Aug.

Bethany Park is twenty miles southwest of Indianapolis on the Indianapolis & Vincennes railroad. Beginning to-morrow, trains leave Indianapolis at 8 and 11:15 A. M. and 4:05 P. M.; leave Bethany at 10 A. M.

The exercises of the encampment will be formally opened on Thursday night, at 7:30 o'clock, by an address of welcome by Rev. L. L. Carpenter, president of the associagrand concert, to be given by the glee club of the Plainfield Reform School.

This is the opening day of Acton's campmeeting. Rev. Dr. Dashiell will deliver the initial sermon this afternoon. To-morrow will be Epworth League day. Trains leave at 7:05 and 10:55 A. M.

GOVERNOR WHITCOMB'S REMAINS.

They Vill Be Removed To-Day from Greenlawn Cemetery to Crown Hill.

For many years, among the few graves at Greenlawn Cemetery that attract the attention of the people of this generation has been that of James Whitcomb, marked by a monument which sets forth the fact that he had been Governor of Indiana, and that at the time of his death he was a United States Senator from this State,

The remains of Governor Whitcomb will be removed to Crown Hill Cemetery today. The body will be taken up at 9 o'clock this morning, and the metallic case in which it was buried will be inclosed in a new case. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the remains will be buried in a lot adjoining that in which Governor Morton is laid. Governor Whitcomb was born in Stockbridge, Vt., Dec. 1, 1791, and received a classical education, graduating at Tran-sylvania University. He was admitted to the bar at Bloomington, this State, in 1824. and after serving as prosecuting attorney of Monroe county, was elected, in 1830, to the State Senate. He held the position of Commissioner of the General Land Office under President Jackson for five years. He from Dec. 3, 1849, to Oct. 4, 1852, when he died in the city of New York. Governor Whitcomb was a prominent Mason, and had much to do with the founding of Raper Commandery, Knights Templars, of which organization he was the first secre-

A NEWSPAPER EXHIBIT.

Mr. Heilman Has an Idea for Representing the Indiana Press at the World's Fair.

Prof. W. N. Heilman, agent of the State committee on education for the world's fair, was at the Bates House last night, where he unfolded to a number of newspaper men a plan for a representative newspaper exhibit at the fair. He expressed the opinion that it would be desirable to make such a showing as one of the educational agencies of the State. His design is to endeavor to get a copy of each newspaper publication in the State of the date of Oct. 13, 1892, or at least the copy containing the news regarding the celebration of Columbus day (Oct. 12), and also of the seciety, trade and other class publications. These are to be placed in portfolios, and if the Professor's ideas meet with proper encouragement and assistance this part of the exhibit will be one of great interest. A circular letter on the subject, explaining the matter and asking the co-operation of the press of the State, will soon be issued.

THE PRISONERS FARE WELL

Chicken and Fruit for Those Under Warden French at Michigan City, While Patten's Charges Go Without-Mild Handling of that Shooting Case-Capacity of the Insana Hospitals.

The State Board of Charities, which met yesterday in quarterly session, heard the report of the secretary, Alexander Johnson, relating to his visit to the State prisons. north and south. In the former, he reported, two improvements had been made. one the adoption of the free hour, the other the direct complaint system. These, it was said, are working well in the prison, and are showing good results in the experience of Warden French. Mr. Johnson said, however, that the food cost of the Prison North, of which Mr. French is warden, is 4 cents per alem higher than in the Prison South, because of the greater waste in the former. The blame was not thrown altogether upon the warden, but upon the insufficient kitchen room and dining room, accompanied by imperfect service. It was stated that the kitchen department of the Prison North necessarily entails a great waste of food, but it was suggested there are improvements which the prison board and Warden French can themselves make operative.

In reference to the Prison South Mr.

Johnson dealt with the recent case of a sheriff shoeting an escaping prisoner, and sending him to prison while so critically ill that he died soon after reaching there. The board did not take it upon itself to censure any one, but concluded to lay the facts before the next Legislature, with recommendation for action defining when officers may shoot prisoners escaping, and what must be done with prisoners needing hospital attention. The officers of the Eastern hospital were exonerated from any blame in the case of the accident to a patient named Sheffield, who was killed by a train. The testimony showed that in a state of liberty, essential to a cure, Sheffield had thrown himself in front of the train. ing prisoner, and sending him front of the train.

The board considered the matter that shall comprise the next report, which is to go to the Legislature. It was decided to make it show only the changes since the last report, avoiding the detail of the latter. Plans will be suggested whereby the tour hospitals for the insane shall increase their capacity 30 per cent. by the expenditure of 8 per cent. of their cost. The system to be recommended is already in successful operation in several contiguous States. It includes the purchase of a farm near the Central hospital, on which the labor of certain classes of male patients may be utilized with benefit to themselves and with advantage to the food supplies needed. It is proposed to increase the capacity of the Eastern and Southern hospitals by feasible additions at moderate cost. In the latter institutions the capacity can be latter institutions the capacity can be easily doubled.

The interests of the feeble-minded and The interests of the feeble-minded and idiotic will occupy a prominent place in the report. Secretary Johnson was authorized to collect the essential facts, and will visit all the institutions in the State, One purpose is to shut off the supply of idiots, due to intermarrying of people of this class. The board received the printed quarterly comparative statement of the State institutions for six months. The average cost per central and E. Rochn Celebrated Swiss Watches.

On Indianapolis improved

On Indianapolis improved for the insane for six months, ending April 30, was $101.47; of all the charitable institutions, $102.09, and of all the correctional institutions, $72.09. The cost of per capita maintenance of the northern prison for six months was $69.44, and of the southern prison $59.44. Guards cost about $3 more per capita (of inmates) at Michigan City than at Jeffersonville. Subsistence at the former place cost $23.78 per capita, and at the latter $17.74. The northern prisoners evidently get more chicken and fruits, as the cost at the northern prison for butter, eggs and poultry was 83 cents per capita, as against 4 cents at the Prison South, and 49 cents for fruits as against 3 cents at the southern prison. The report shows that food per capita per day costs 13 cents under Warden French, and 9 cents under Warden Patton. It was this state of things that Mr. Johnson called attention

POETICAL ADVANCE AGENT.

Unique Genius Who Is "Doing" the Newspapers for the Sells Circus.

Not the least unique among the belongings of the Sells Brothers' circus, which will show in Indianapolis on Aug. 15, is its advance man. Charles Stow, who has been in town during the past few days going through the usual formality of telling the newspaper men that he "was once one of

It isn't every amusement enterprise that can secure a born poet of original ideas and a high degree of talent as an advance man; in fact, there is only one such in the country, and Sells Brothers got him. Though Mr. Stow is approaching the wintry side of life-there is frost on his mustache and a skating pond above his noble brow-he has not yet had time to acquire fame in the literary world, but it is coming, just as sure as the burning sunrise of to-morrow will follow the scorehing sunset of to-day. The world, even the snobbish world of letters, cannot long keep down a man whose brain is teeming with this sort of thing: How they quivered, dilated, contracted: Bulged out with amazement's wild stare; But ever in both the strange gleaming Of that surfeited look of despair.

"Ah, I felt it!" gasped out the optician, "I've had fifty such calls in an hour; Yours is simply one case among thousands, And beyond all my ocular power.

"And should they increase to a million, I. for one, would not be much surprised, For the optic nerves of all creation, Sells' circus will soon paralyze.

"I am beaten, and I will retire. sir, And my fame it is passing away, But, excuse me, it is half after seven, And I can't miss the gorgeous entree."

There is more of this-about a yard or two-upon the printed slip which Mr. Stow has submitted to the police reporter. who does duty as dramatic editor when oc-casion requires. Could any other Ameri-can bard so combine the delicate motif of the State Senate. He held the position of Commissioner of the General Land Office under President Jackson for five years. He was twice elected Governor of Indiana, but before his second term expired was elected United States Senator. He served ment's wild stare" and "that surfeited look of despair." Notice with what bounds of gigantic genius it rushes on to its climax in the declaration that "the optic nerves of all creation Sells's circus will soon paralyze!" Then what could be more artistic and natural than the graceful way in which the poet lets the reader down from this height? The optician is already feel-ing the effect of this general paralysis of creation, he feels that his "fame, it is passing away." But does chaos follow? Not a bit of it. The true artist will never handle his readers so roughly as to lead them into confusion and leave them there. There is hope for the optician and for the public: with consummate skill the poet leads them to the gorgeoous entree." and there leaves them to revel to their hearts' content.

But it is not in the realm of poetry alone that Mr. Stow excels. When his gifted pen finds relaxation in prose he can "sling language" in a manner to make the hot Southern blood of a cub reporter on the Atlanta Constitution sizzle. In wandering through the placid beauties of one of his brevier press notices the unwarped reader is likely to be dazzled to blindness by some such effulgent burst of genius as this: "Sells Brothers' mammoth and marvelous amusement enterprise is heralded by an international chorus of delighted complements from millions of tongues and hundreds of newspapers, in which America and Australia join in tones which echo and re-echo clear across the wide Pacific."

Small Boy Missing.

Wallace Pickett, a twelve-year-old colored boy, is reported missing from home. His mother says he left home Monday morning and has not returned since. When last seen he was on his way to the canal to go bathing, and she fears that he may have been drowned.

An important decision has just been given in the case of Miss Emma C. Cummins, of New Castle, Ind., in which she has purchased of N. W. Bryant & Co., through one of their traveling salesmen, Mr. Elliott, a fine Weber cabinet grand piano, finished in burl walnut. Miss Cummins is one of the best known musicians in New Castle, and the fact of her placing her order with this well-known house, in the face of such strong competition offered by other music houses, is a very significant fact. Miss Cummins states that she wished to deal with a house that was perfectly responsible.

The fact that the product of the Home Brewery Company is a pure hop and malt beer has made a wonderful demand for it, and they are busy as bees filling orders. For family use it is unequaled as a summer
